Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement 2017/18

This statement is made on behalf of Homes for Haringey pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes our slavery and human trafficking statement.

Homes for Haringey recognises that it has a responsibility to take a robust approach to slavery and human trafficking. The organisation is absolutely committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking within its activities, and to ensuring, as far as possible, that its supply chains are free from slavery and human trafficking.

This statement sets out Homes for Haringey's actions to understand all potential modern slavery risks related to its business and to put in place steps that are aimed at ensuring that there is no slavery or human trafficking in its own business and its supply chains.

We recognise that as a provider of social housing in North London, there are two main avenues by which modern slavery could impact Homes for Haringey. These are either via a supply chain or concern could be noted when attending a resident's property.

There are therefore two main elements which Homes for Haringey should improve: procurement practices and safeguarding / whistle-blowing training and policies.

Our Approach

We work to high professional standards and comply with all laws, regulations and rules relevant to our business, to the best of our knowledge. We expect the same high standards from those we work with and are committed to ensuring, as far as possible, that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business.

This includes contractors we employ to undertake repairs and various maintenance related activities on our behalf, where the risks of slavery and trafficking can be higher than in other parts of our supply chain.

We have both a clear Safeguarding Policy, and a Whistle blowing Policy which are published on our staff intranet site. If there are any concerns about wrongdoing or breaches of law these concerns can be raised in confidence without fear of disciplinary action.

Supplier Due Diligence

Suppliers are vetted depending on the value of anticipated spend. Our contract and threshold regulations set out the requirements we have in relation to our engagement with suppliers.

Our suppliers are expected to comply with all local and national laws and regulations. Should suppliers fail to live up to our expectations or be unwilling to make any changes we may cease to trade with them.

Homelessness Prevention

From our experience people who face, or who are, homeless are particularly vulnerable to slavery and trafficking. Our front line facing staff are trained and able to support victims of slavery and trafficking and they access partner agencies to do this effectively.

Our Actions in 2017/18

We strengthened our training offer for front line staff in particular following the introduction of the Homelessness Reduction Act because of the close linkages between homelessness and the potential for slavery, sex working and trafficking.

We joined the National Referral Mechanism which is a framework for identifying victims of human trafficking or modern slavery and ensuring they receive the appropriate support. We made two referrals during the year.

We continued to provide mandatory training for all staff to help ensure they are robustly trained and have the skills to recognise the signs of modern slavery. All staff are still required to comply with our code of conduct which sets out the actions and behaviours expected of them when representing the organisation.

Our contractors, especially those who visit our properties, are also trained in this area and are provided with concern cards to raise any concerns immediately. A Modern Slavery statement is requested as part of a suite of documents required for large tender processes.

Further Steps

In 2018/19 we plan on strengthening our training for customer facing staff to improve their understanding of what modern slavery looks like as opposed to possible perceived stereotypes. We will develop procedures that help us to support and make full use of the National Referral Mechanism.

We will also continue to raise awareness amongst our supply chain to inform them of their obligations under the Modern Slavery Act.
